Now Harry's after a full press inquiry

WHINGEING Prince Harry wants a public inquiry into tabloid phone hacking, his lawyer has said.

David Sherborne, who has represented the Duke of Sussex in his various battles against newspapers, said he wanted an inquiry as well as "a proper investigation by the police".

The Duke accepted an eight-figure financial settlement from News Group Newspapers (NGN), the publisher of The Sun, in January, ending his legal action just as a trial was due to get under way.

The eleventh-hour deal came just weeks after the Duke vowed never to settle his claim for unlawful information gathering, insisting that his sole goal was accountability.

However, he hailed NGN's admission of unlawful activity by private investigators for the first time as a "monumental victory".

Huge costs are a crime

BRITAIN'S soft approach to crime is costing the UK as much as £250 BILLION a year according to a new report.

Knife attacks, robberies and shoplifting have risen by between 50 to 90 per cent since 2015, costing individuals some £63 billion alone each year.

The impact on business and the public sector adds £69 billion to the bill, according to the analysis by the think tank Policy Exchange.

Also amongst the reasons for the massive bill, according to the report, is that as few as one in 20 crimes are being solved.

White House spat leads to mega-strop TRUMP HALTS MILITARY AID TO UKRAINE

PRESIDENT Donald Trump has directed a "pause" to US assistance to Ukraine. It comes after the disastrous Oval Office meeting with President Zelenskyy on Friday, which saw Trump and JD Vance verbally attack the Ukrainian president.

A White House official said President Trump is focused on reaching a peace deal to end the more than three-year war sparked by Russia's all-out invasion of Ukraine and wants Zelenskyy "committed" to that goal.

The official added that the US was "pausing and reviewing" its aid to "ensure that it is contributing to a solution."

Media reports in the United States suggest the "pause" is not a permanent end to assistance.

Meanwhile, US Vice President JD Vance

WAR OF WORDS: Trump and Zelenskyy accused Zelenskyy of "needling" Trump and having a "certain sense of entitlement".

Sitting down with Fox News' Sean Hannity early on Tuesday, Vance said the encounter, which happened in front of the media, "really set Zelenskyy off".

"He showed a clear unwillingness to engage in the peace process that President Trump said is the policy," he said.

"That's the real breakdown. I think Zelenskyy wasn't yet there. And frankly, still isn't there. But I think he'll get there eventually, he has to."

Vance confirmed Ukrainian officials made at least one attempt to restart negotiations after leaving the White House, but efforts were shut down by Trump.

Earlier on Monday, Trump attacked Zelenskyy's claim that peace is "very, very far away" as the "worst statement" he could have made less than a day after European leaders pledged to find a way to end the war.

Trudeau hits back at tariffs

CANADA has said that it will impose retaliatory tariffs on the US after Donald Trump confirmed that he would go forward with his planned 25 per cent levies.

In a statement, Canada's prime minister, Justin Trudeau, called Mr Trump's tariffs "unjustified" and said Canada would respond with equivalent measures should the US continue with the action.

"Today, after a 30-day pause, the United States administration has decided to proceed with imposing 25 per cent tariffs on Canadian exports and 10 per cent tariffs on Canadian energy. Let me be unequivocally clear – there is no justification for these actions," the statement said.

"Canada will not let this unjustified action go unanswered. Should American tariffs come into effect tonight, Canada will, effective 12:01am EST tomorrow (Tuesday), respond with 25 per cent tariffs."

Mr Trump on Monday said there was "no room left to make a deal".

Ads in Iraq to deter migrants

THE Home Office is launching an advertising campaign in Iraq to try to deter people from crossing the English Channel in small boats.

Similar campaigns were launched in Albania and Vietnam by the previous Conservative government in 2023 and 2024.

On Sunday, 592 migrants in 11 boats crossed the Channel, according to Home Office figures. That represents the highest total for a day in March on record.

One advert shows an image of a destroyed dinghy floating in the water and testimony from a man saying "the boat was too crowded" and "people disappeared into the sea".

Another features an account of one woman who says: "I was promised a well-paid job. Instead I was a slave."

'Canada's next PM' makes shock call

FRIENDS WITH NUKES: Chrystia Freeland wants to get closer to the UK

BRITAIN could target the United States with its arsenal of nukes – to protect Canada.

That's the extraordinary call from the woman tipped to replace woke Justin Trudeau as Canadian Prime Minister.

Liberal Party high flyer Chrystia Freeland says Canada should seek closer ties with Britain because its nuclear weapons can help protect the country against Donald Trump.

Ms Freeland, the former deputy prime minister under Mr Trudeau, said that US president is "clearly threatening our sovereignty" with his campaign to absorb Canada as

By JENNIFER SMALLBONE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

the 51st state of America.

In order to "guarantee our security", Ms Freeland said she would build closer security partnerships with European NATO allies and "I would be sure that France and Britain were there, who possess nuclear weapons".

"I would be working urgently with those partners to build a closer security relationship... in a time when the United States can be a threat," said the ex-foreign minister and finance minister at the final Liberal leadership debate.

The Liberal Party has overtaken the Conservatives in the polls for the first time since 2021, surging on a backlash to Mr Trump and his mockery of Mr Trudeau as merely "Governor" of Canada.

Ms Freeland is running second in the race to Mark Carney, the former governor of the Bank of England.

Umbrella

She draws 31 per cent of voters against Mr Carney's 43 per cent, a poll for Mainstreet Research found last week. Results are due on March 9.

The suggestion that Canada should seek to avail itself of Britain's nuclear umbrella against the United States was criticised by Ms Freeland's political opponents.

"I think that that was an insane thing to say," said Danielle Smith, the conservative premier of Alberta, Canada's wealthiest province.

"As if somehow we're going to have a nuclear threat from the United States or counter some kind of nuclear threat," Ms Smith said.

"The US is our friend and allied security partner," she said, citing the North American Aerospace Defence Command (NORAD) alliance, in which Canada and the United States share air defence.

"During 9/11 it was a Canadian commander that was giving direction on North American airspace. That's how integrated we are on the security front."

"So anyone suggesting otherwise is just being silly."

First Lady launches revenge porn crusade

MELANIA TAKES ON DEEPPAKES

MELANIA Trump will tackle revenge porn and deepfakes in her first public comments since becoming First Lady for the second time.

Mrs Trump is set to host a roundtable to discuss the Take It Down Act, which aims to clamp down on the non-consensual sharing of sexual images and videos.

Deepfake porn uses AI to create illicit videos by superimposing a person's face into pornographic content without their consent.

Deepfakes currently occupy something of a legal grey area in the US, with some states like Indiana, Texas and Virginia enacting laws. There is no national legislation criminalising the fakes, however revenge porn, the leaking of sexual content without consent, is illegal in 49 states.

Mrs Trump warned that the "threat of privacy breaches is alarmingly high" for children.

Mrs Trump's meeting on Capitol Hill will be an opportunity to campaign for safer internet use.

BUT WILL SHE GET HER BRITS OUT?

MILLIE Bobby Brown has confirmed that she wants to play pop icon Britney Spears in a movie.

The Stranger Things actress has recently been sharing photos where she looks just like the blonde bombshell Toxic singer.

Fans have guessed that the 21-year-old star has been casually auditioning for the part with her Instagram posts.

And now Millie has admitted she is very much interested in stepping into Spears' platform heels for a tell-all bio film based on her best-selling book The Woman in Me.

"Nothing would make me happier than being able to play such an iconic, beautiful person. I leave that to the Gods," Millie posted.

By SUZIE SHELDON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

She told Access Hollywood she would "love nothing more than to be a part of her story", adding: "I would want someone to bring it to life in the most beautiful way, and I'd always be open to that."

And fans are asking if pouty Millie will strip off to recreate Britney's infamous nuddy dancing social media vids.

Millie previously expressed an interest to play Britney in a biopic back in 2022.

During an appearance on the Drew Barrymore Show, she said: "I wanna play a real person," adding that she wanted to portray Britney.

"I think her story, first of all, resonates with me."

Dolly Parton announces hubby death

COUNTRY music superstar Dolly Parton has paid tribute to her husband Carl Dean, following his death aged 82.

In a post on Twitter, Parton said he would be laid to rest in a private ceremony.

"Carl and I spent many wonderful years together," she said.

"Words can't do justice to the love we shared for over 60 years. Thank you for your prayers and sympathy."

The family, who requested privacy, did not specify a cause of death. He was survived by Parton, as well as siblings Sandra and Donnie.

Dean, who owned an asphalt paving business in Nashville, Tennessee, was also the inspiration behind Parton's hit song Jolene.

Parton met her husband outside a laundromat in 1964 when she was 18.

They married two years later in 1966 in a small ceremony in Ringgold, Georgia.

After trips to Iraq, Syria and Iran, bum-sex queen risks wrath of Taliban while on holiday in Afghanistan...

IS THIS THE CRAZIEST PORN STAR IN THE WORLD?

"CRAZY": Adult star Whitney likes a challenge when it comes to travelling

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A PORN star risked EXECUTION by the Taliban - after flying to Afghanistan for a holiday.

Whitney Wright, who caused uproar with a visit to Iran last year, where authorities crack down on women, shared some images of her trip to Taliban-controlled Afghanistan on her Instagram account.

They show a plane from national carrier Ariana on a runway, a tiled ceiling from the Western city of Herat, supermarket items and vehicles.

Bum-sex queen Whitney does not appear in the images.

The Taliban are keen to attract tourists and promote a different side of the country. Foreigners are visiting, encouraged by the drop in violence.

But the joyless fanatics would have been bound to take a dim view of the 33-year-old's on screen antics - which involve ORAL, FULL SEX and ANAL, plus SQUIRTING.

And her high profile support of Palestine - plunged into bitter war with Israel after terror group Hamas killed more than 1,000 innocent Jews on October 7, 2023 - would have counted for little with her strict Afghan hosts.

Earlier this month, the Taliban took over the operations of Afghanistan's only luxury hotel in Kabul, more than a decade after they launched a deadly attack there that killed nine people.

The Serena Hotel said it was closing its operations in the Afghan capital on February 1, with the Hotel State Owned Corporation taking over. The corporation is overseen by the finance ministry.

The Taliban first hit the Serena in 2008 and again in 2014.

Acting Interior Minister Sirajuddin Haqqani has acknowledged planning the 2008 attack, which killed eight, including US citizen Thor David Hesla.

As an American citizen, born in Oklahoma City, Wright would need a visa to enter Afghanistan. But there are no operational Afghan embassies or consulates in the US.

The State Department says US citizens should not travel to Afghanistan for any reason due to civil unrest, crime, terrorism, kidnapping and limited health facilities.

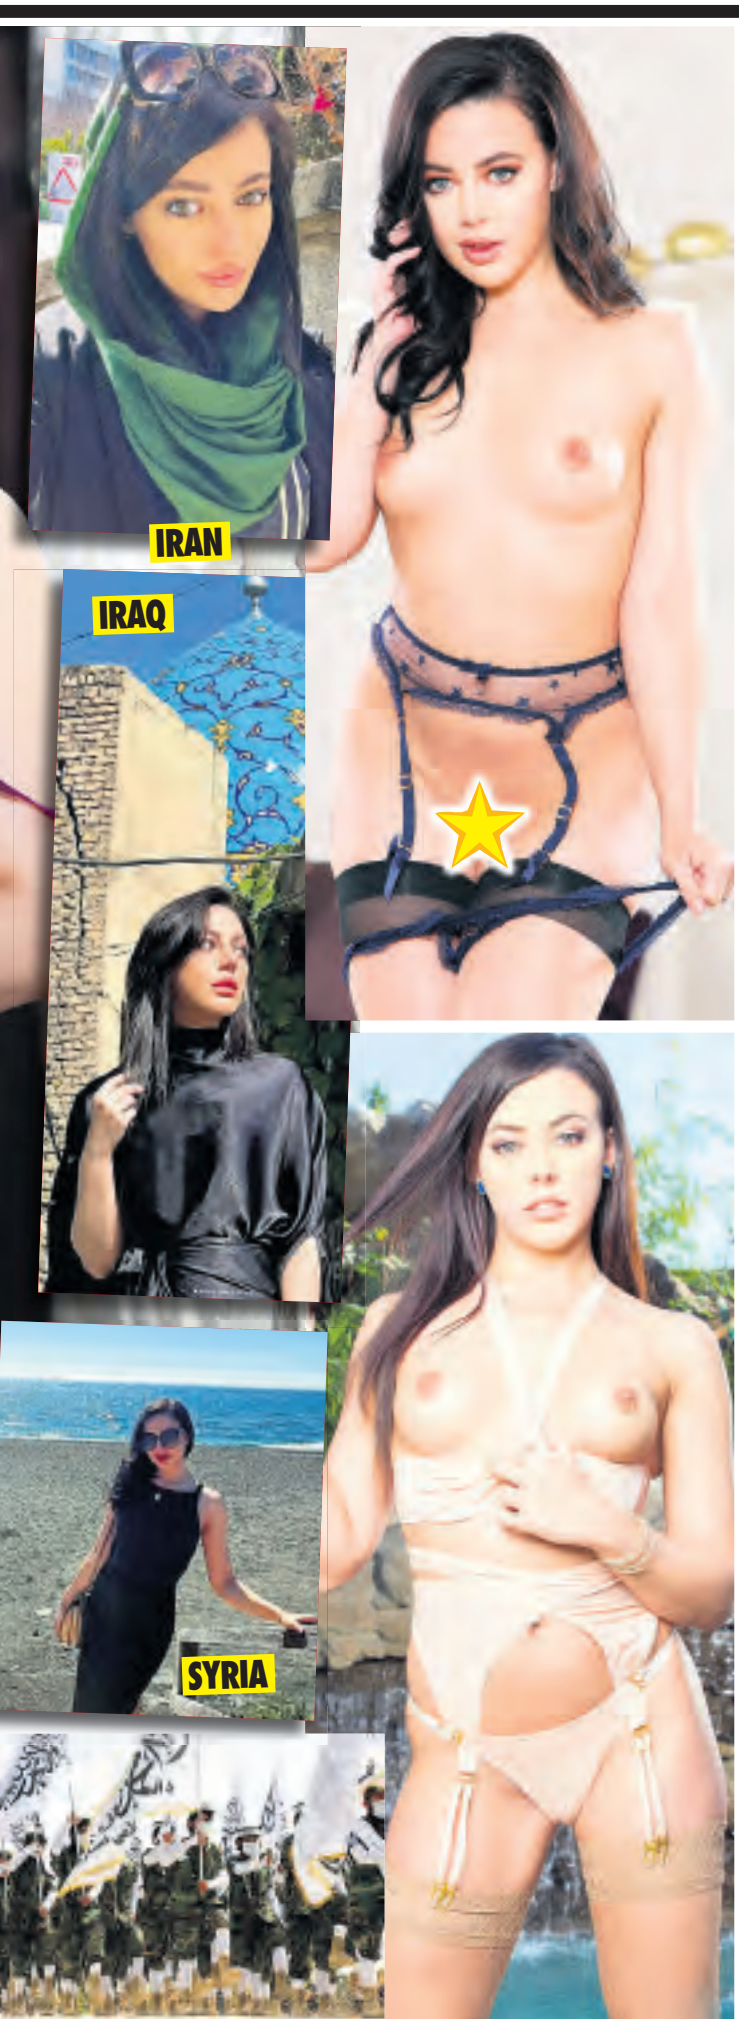

Whitney has also visited Iraq, Syria, and Lebanon in recent years.

NI hike will cost £24.2bn

BRITAIN'S public sector wage bill will grow by £24.2bn over the next five years thanks to Rachel Reeves's National Insurance raid, analysis shows.

Chancellor Rachel Reeves will hike National Insurance contributions – paid for by employers – from 13.8 per cent to 15 per cent from next month, while the threshold at which businesses start to pay will also be dropped.

The private sector has reacted furiously to the policy, with M&S chief executive, Stuart Machin, accusing Labour of treating retailers "like a piggy bank".

However, while the private sector will be forced to eat into their profits to cover their spiralling bills, the increased labour costs for the NHS, military and other government bodies will ultimately be paid for by the taxpayer.

Government forecasts show this will cost taxpayers £24.2bn between its introduction in April and 2030.

It is around one fifth of the income the Treasury expects to generate from the National Insurance raid – £25bn a year.

Fat chance of obesity epidemic

MORE than three in four adults in the UK will be obese or overweight by 2050, a Lancet study has revealed.

Experts predict the proportion of obese children and adults in the UK will rise substantially over the next 25 years – and the increase will be fastest among the country's youngest.

The most comprehensive analysis to date forecasts that more than half the world's adults will then be overweight or obese, with this rising to 77 per cent in Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

The world obesity epidemic is a "profound tragedy and a monumental societal failure", the University of Washington researchers said.

In the UK, the cost of obesity to the NHS is about £6.5 billion per year and growing, and it is also the second biggest preventable cause of cancer.

Revolutionary injections such as Wegovy and Mounjaro could be turning the tide on the epidemic, with rates of obesity stabilising in the US, but it is too early to predict long-term trends based on their use.

Watchdogs flooded with complaints after Charli's awards appearance...

PROPER CHARLIES: Saddoes complained about star's nips

OFCOM and ITV have been flooded with complaints about this year's Brit Awards after five-time winner Charli XCX appeared in a see-through dress.

Viewers have vowed to contact the TV regulator and the broadcaster about this year's controversial ceremony at The O2 in London that was filled with jawdropping moments.

British singer Charli, 32, claimed as she took to the stage to accept the artist of the year award that ITV had 'complained about my nipples'.

The singer-songwriter sparked cheers and applause from the crowd as she quipped: "I feel like we're in the era of free the nipple though, right?"

The Brit Awards belonged to Charli XCX on Saturday night, who completed her transformation from underground hero to bona fide pop star by winning five awards.

winners, and Fontaines DC and Chappell Roan bagged the international awards.

The arena fell silent near the end of the show for a video tribute to the late Liam Payne, who died last October.

Charli XCX stole the show by winning the biggest awards of the night – artist of the year, album of the year for her cultural phenomenon Brat, and song of the year for Guess.

She went on to thank Billie Eilish – the first non-Brit to appear on a best song-winner – for her guest vocals on Guess which she delivered at just three days notice. "Thank you Billie for running and gunning..."

The 32-year-old from Essex also picked up the best dance act and songwriter of the year awards.

SABRINA LAUGHS OFF WATERSHED GRIPES

SABRINA Carpenter has broken her silence on her very raunchy BRITs performance on Sunday after sparking outrage amongst viewers who branded it a 'sex show'.

The US singer, 25, opened the ceremony at London's O2 and clad in red lingerie showcased saucy dance moves in her set which paid homage to the UK.

Taking to Instagram on Sunday, the stunner shared behind the scenes snaps from the ceremony and seemingly poked fun at the controversy.

The busty beauty wrote: "Brits. I now know what watershed is!!!!".

The set saw Sabrina slip into a King's Guard outfit to put a cheeky British twist on her popular tunes.

She even knelt on the floor off-camera in front of one dancer, who then winked at the camera in a very suggestive moment.

The set's finale was so saucy it had to be edited for broadcast, with the camera focusing on the soldier winking, instead of Sabrina's position.

BBC Hamas boy was on Channel 4

CHANNEL 4 News has admitted the son of a Hamas official featured in parts of its daily coverage of the Israel-Hamas war.

The boy in question, Abdullah al-Yazouri, is the son of Ayman Alyazouri, who has worked as Hamas's deputy minister of agriculture, and he also featured in the BBC documentary Gaza: How To Survive A War Zone.

Channel 4 said it had "thoroughly reviewed" how the youngster came to appear in "three short news segments for the programme", but denied he had featured in a documentary or any of its coverage which won awards.

The broadcaster said his appearances were in only a "handful of minutes across hundreds of hours" of output.

A statement from the broadcaster said: "Abdullah al-Yazouri did categorically not appear in any documentary broadcast on Channel 4, as has been erroneously misreported by the Daily Telegraph on the front page of this morning's early editions.

Channel 4 said no payment was made to the boy or his family.

Eating issues 'linked to use of fitness app'

FITNESS apps that track meals and exercise could increase the risk of eating disorders, a study says.

Researchers found "concerning" links between health and fitness tracking technology and disordered eating, body image concerns and excessive exercise.

Diet and fitness apps monitor and enable a "healthy lifestyle", and are used by 300 million people globally.

Scientists at Flinders University in Australia found people who use the apps regularly were more likely to have problematic habits related to food and exercise.

"Young adults who use diet and fitness apps have greater disordered eating symptoms - like harmful or restrictive diets - and have negative thoughts about body image when compared to those that don't use them," study lead author Isabella Anderberg said.

"The focus on dietary restriction and weight-loss in these apps may feed into restrictive or excessive behaviours, raising concerns for those who have pre-existing concerns about their weight or body image."

Uni in bizarre free speech crackdown

IS RACIST!

A UNIVERSITY has banned the expression “a piece of cake” – in case it upsets foreigners!

The University of Cardiff says the idiom is "very British-English" and may not be understood by many foreigners.

The university – which also said the phrase “kill two birds with one stone” should be avoided – has told students that such expressions do not usually translate well with other cultures, “not because people have poor English skills but because this is very British-English”.

Other guidance issued in an equality, diversity and inclusion awareness module says that other common phrases should not be used because of their “origin stories” in “ableism”, “racism” and “sexism”.

The EDI guidance states: "In the English language, many of those origin stories are based in ableism, like 'the blind leading the blind', or racism, like 'he's a slave driver', and

news@sundaysport.co.uk

Free speech campaigners accused the university of trying to “police” language, and warned that the EDI guidance was “calculated to turn every casual conversation into a political minefield”.

It comes amid a wider fear that free speech and academic freedoms are being eroded on British campuses because of the growth of "cancel culture".

Exclusionary

Lord Young, the founder of the Free Speech Union, said: "Language guides like this are always badged as 'inclusive', but in fact they are exclusionary. The Free Speech Union has defended over 3,500 people in the past three years, and many of them are older people who have been accused of 'hate speech', for not using the correct woke phrase for something or other."

A Cardiff University spokesman said: "Our Equality, Diversity, and Inclusion Awareness module was created through the collaboration of EDI experts from our institution and students. "Feedback from students revealed that 85% rated the module as good to excellent, while 92% felt the concepts were effectively explained.

"As a university, we take pride in our initiatives which promote equality, diversity and inclusion."

Bigger fines for 'trivial crimes'

ON-the-spot fines for anti-social behaviour are set to increase, under new laws that critics claim will unfairly penalise "crimes" such as untidy gardens and noisy dogs.

The Crime and Policing Bill has raised the maximum fines from £100 to £500 as the Government tackles anti-social behaviour.

The Home Office says that it is part of its zero tolerance approach to community behaviour.

It aims to target persistent behaviour such as threats, abuse, harassment, aggressive begging, drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

But campaigners say the powers have been widened by "busybody" councils to sanction "trivial" activities such as dog walkers who don't use a lead, people loitering in a group of three or more and messy front gardens.

AMELIA

SHOW OFF WHAT THEY'VE GOT

AMELIA Gray Hamlin left very little to the imagination when she stormed the DSquared2 runway during Milan Fashion Week last week.

The American model, 23, went braless as she took to the catwalk in a sheer Cher-inspired champagne-nude jumpsuit.

The stylish ensemble from the fashion brand's Womenswear Fall/Winter 2025/2026 collection featured a figure-hugging silhouette, a delicate sheer sequin embellished fabric, and long sleeves.

Pert

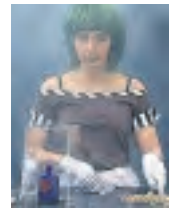

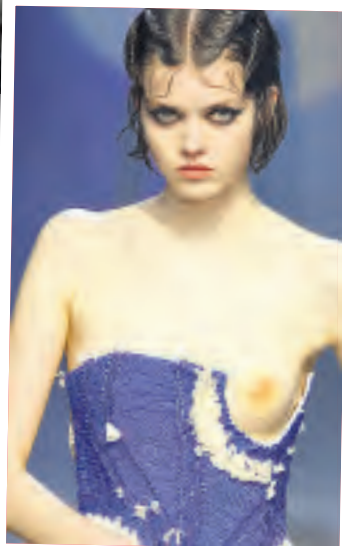

Her look was inspired by Cher's 1974 Met Gala dress, which was created by American fashion designer Bob Mackie.

However, blokes were more inspired by the fact that you could see Amelia's pert boobs through the frock.

But she is not the first scorch to take to the catwalk with her boobs on show.

An insider said: "Half the blokes who work in fashion pretend to be homosexual to get close to women with their knockers hanging out. "It's an open secret."

Wonka babe call to strip on OnlyFans

A WOMAN nicknamed 'the meth head Oompa Loompa' has been urged by fans to pose naked on OnlyFans.

Kirsty Paterson, 30, revealed she's become a fantasy figure, with many people pleading with her to strip off on the adults' subscription website, wearing just a green wig.

She shot to fame after wearing an Oompa Loompa outfit while making sweets in a fake meth lab at the infamous Willy Wonka Experience held in February last year – which left kids in tears and was cancelled as police were called due to "rip off" prices and a lack of props.

Speaking at the Tropical Cafe in her home city of Glasgow for a new cocktail launch, she said: "I've been sent many hand drawn pictures of me as an erotic anime figure, and I've had loads of requests to join OnlyFans."

"People like the idea of me being naked, apart from my green wig, and I've had offers from some who want to draw, as well as play with chocolate online."

"Others have foot fetishes and want me to march around like an Oompa Loompa."

"It's funny, but not something I'll pursue."

Pay council to park on YOUR drive

A LABOUR council is charging homeowners thousands to park on their own driveways – and blaming GLOBAL WARMING!

Lambeth Council has created a map marking homes with a red X where occupants are driving over pavements without permission to park on their land.

The south London council is now demanding householders pay the authority thousands of pounds to make their driveways "official".

And the move could make the council up to £1million in fees.

The map identifies nearly 200 homes in Streatham Vale with "illegal crossovers" where "vehicles are driving over the footway to access property without a formally-approved dropped kerb", according to council papers.

The research is part of Lambeth's so-called "kerbside strategy", which it claims will "support resilience to the climate emergency" because "free unrestricted parking has an impact on our climate".

STUNNING Summer St Claire knows what she likes in the bedroom, and has a list of sexual positions she can't get enough of!

The 32E scorcher said her favourite way to bonk is in the reverse cowgirl position, closely followed by a doggy-style shag.

Talking about reverse cowgirl, Summer explained: "It totally works by hitting the right spot to help me climax."

"I think it's good for blokes, too, mainly because they can see their cock sliding in and out of me - it's like watching porn."

"My second fave is doggy style, which just feels so animalistic and naughty!"

And the blonde bombshell, from Horsham, West Sussex, has a secret trick for fellas who are keen to drive her crazy in bed.

She added: "It really gets me going when my fella blindfolds me and then slowly kisses all the way down my body."

"It's really frustrating, but in a good way, and I always go wild for him afterwards!"

LESBIAN SPORTS COACH BEGGED TEEN GIRL FOR FINGERING VIDS

CHARGED: Jessica Huggins

LESSONS IN LOVE: Mullins-Marion Christian School

A LESBIAN sports school coach is behind bars after she was accused of sex acts against a teenage girl.

Cops arrested Jessica Huggins, an ex-volunteer girls' basketball and volleyball coach at the Mullins-Marion Christian School in Mullins, South Carolina.

Officers claim Huggins sexually assaulted a 14-year-old on three separate occasions between October 2024 and last month.

Huggins also encouraged the teen to share sexually explicit photos and videos that were sent for Huggins' "sexual stimulation," according to the arrest warrants.

It's believed Huggins begged the girl to finger her own vagina in the videos.

Huggins also sent multiple sexually explicit photos of herself to the teen, the warrants state.

"No matter how much you think you know somebody, you don't really know what goes on behind closed doors," said one Mullins-Marion Christian School parent, who wanted to stay anonymous. That parent added that hearing the news of Huggins' arrest was "devastating".

She said not only do her kids go to the school, but she went there herself – and knows Huggins personally.

"It hurts more than anything, knowing that somebody that I was close to growing up and trusted could do this to any child," she added.

"So close to home – it was hurtful and very shocking."

That parent also said she wants people to know this situation isn't a reflection of Mullins-Marion Christian School as a whole.

They added: "I wouldn't trust my kids at any other school – I just pray that all of us, that our community within the school, can stand together and make it through this."

Huggins is being held at the Marion County Detention Centre and faces several charges including criminal sexual conduct with a minor.

Brits spent £2bn at Greggs in 2024

GREGGS has revealed a jump in sales and profits for 2024 as it launched new shops, extended its opening hours and raised some of its prices.

The bakery chain, which has more than 2,600 UK shops, made sales topping £2billion – up 11.3% from 2023.

This was partly driven by the opening of around 225 new shops during the year.

Excluding the impact of new openings, sales grew 5.5% compared with 2023, which reflected longer opening hours in some shops and the roll-out of delivery services.

The group made a pre-tax profit of £204m for 2024 and will share £20.5m with its staff under a profit-share plan.

FLIGHT THREAT TO 'NOISY' CAT LADY

AIRLINE staff threatened to throw a woman off a plane – because of her noisy PUSSY!

Janelle Rupkalvis's trip from Seattle to Salt Lake City almost descended into a cat fight after a Delta Airlines crew member allegedly told her to shut her feline up, or get shown the door.

Janelle, 30, her partner and their four-year-old pet cat Asparagus had barely sat down in their first-class seats when the flight attendant made the threat, Rupkalvis recalled in a TikTok video.

She said: "The attendant goes, 'If your cat doesn't stop meowing, we're gonna have to ask you to get off the plane.'"

"This is a scary thing for a little guy who's sat in a little carrier underneath the seat."

"So I text Delta and I ask them to clarify what the actual policy is, so that I'm fully prepared."

In response, a Delta representative said that owners are responsible for keeping their pets "passive" during the flight.

CELEBRATING WORLD BOOK DAYFANCY GETTING BETWEEN THE COVERS?By JOANNE HARTLEY news@sundaysport.co.uk

WORLD Book Day is an annual event held across the UK and in Ireland on the first Thursday in March.

On this day, every child in full-time education is given a voucher to be spent on books.

The event, which was first celebrated in Britain in 1998, is the local manifestation of the original, global World Book Day – organised by UNESCO to promote reading, publishing and copyright, and widely observed on April 23.

Clashes

Organisers in the UK moved the observance to avoid clashes with Easter school holidays and with Saint George's Day.

In schools, World Book Day is marked by youngsters dressing up as their favourite book character – which is usually Harry Potter.

Here at Midweek Sport, we're celebrating by showing some lovely ladies reading books – all with their busters out...

#MY SEX FANTASY

...WITH
ZAFIRA
KLAAS, 34D,
FROM MANCHESTER

MY biggest turn-on is having sex with a total stranger.

Some no-strings, spontaneous nookie is great for the soul!

Not so much shenanigans with a random bloke you've just met in a bar.

I don't think boozy sessions are always the best.

You can't remember them half the time and then a lot of fellas just can't stay hard for long enough!

It sounds like something out of a cheesy 1970s porn film, but I get really horny at the idea of flirting and getting it on with someone you come across.

Such as a hot repair man coming round to the house!

But forget all those corny "I'm just here to check your pipes, luv" lines.

I once had really intense sex with a guy who gave me a cheeky smile while in the supermarket.

We got chatting and we were flirting madly and I just blurted out, "I live round the corner if you fancy a coffee".

He jumped at the chance and within a few minutes of us entering my flat we were getting very naughty.

We kissed and ripped each other's clothes off in the hall and didn't even make it to the bedroom - he banged me over the kitchen table!

When you're just after a bit of fun as the main course, with no relationship drama as a side dish, it can be so wild!

I get all horny just thinking about it...

Reagan film 'too white' for Oscars

A BIOPIIC about Ronald Reagan was banned from an Oscars nomination – because the former President's life did not contain enough blacks, women or gays.

The movie, starring Dennis Quaid as the Republican president (above), couldn't hit any of the criteria the Academy for Motion Pictures requires of Best Picture nominations – including that their casts be at least 30% from traditionally underrepresented groups such as minorities, women and the LGBTQ community.

Ed Feulner, a former domestic policy adviser under Reagan, pointed out previous nominees including The Godfather, Patton and Rocky would have fallen foul of the "woke" rules.

The film's producer Mark Joseph, evoking one of Reagan's own famous lines to complain about Hollywood's leftist establishment, quipped: "There they go again."

Reagan, which follows the story of President Ronald Reagan from his small-town middle-America beginnings to Hollywood and the White House, had a cast that was almost entirely white.

Cop's vicar offered sex worker cash

A POLICE chaplain was arrested after he was caught with a hooker.

Father Michael Eguino is a Catholic chaplain for the New York PD and vicar of St Anselm Church in the Bronx.

Sources claim the 40-year-old was caught offering a woman money for sex.

Eguino is charged with patronising a prostitute and was given a ticket for his unholy alleged act.

Eguino was made an NYPD chaplain in August 2021 – just seven years after being ordained as a priest.

"Father Eguino, a beloved and highly respected NYPD chaplain, is shocked and heartbroken by the false allegations," his lawyer, Oliver Storch, said.

"Father Eguino is presumed innocent and requests the public to withhold judgment until the conclusion of the investigation and all facts have been addressed in the appropriate forum," the statement concluded.

Catholic priests take a vow of celibacy when they are ordained. A priest can be defrocked for breaking that vow – or for being charged with a crime.

Aimee Lou reveals she got to OK White Lotus titty scene...

INTIMATE:
Aimee as Chelsea

NUDITY IS STILL A BIG DEAL!

AIMEE Lou Wood is opening up about her intimate scene with lucky Walton Goggins in a recent episode of The White Lotus.

She said she got to watch the boobs-out scene – to check she was happy with it.

The pair play Chelsea and Rick in the HBO show – a seemingly mismatched couple with a 22-year age gap who are on holiday at the titular Thailand resort.

In the second episode of Season 3, we see a different, non-argumentative side to the two when they shag.

The scene is gentle and intimate, with Rick slowly undressing Chelsea and kissing her pert breasts.

The pair then heavily make out in bed before the camera cuts to the next scene.

Looking back on its filming, Aimee said she felt supported not only by Walton, but by the show's intimacy coordinator, Miriam Lucia, and its creator, Mike White.

She said: "I love intimacy coordinators, and I think they're absolutely essential. "Miriam said, 'You tell me your vision for this scene, and I will make sure that we can execute that in a safe way where everyone's happy'.

"Walton and I were like, 'This is what we think should happen. This is why we think it's important'. Because we don't see a lot of tenderness from Rick to Chelsea the rest of the time. So we have to make sure that when they're physical and intimate in that way, that you see the love.

"We don't want it to be like a fking gratuitous sex scene."

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Would we go mad again if a new virus struck?

IF you still remember James Bond being blown to bits in No Time to Die, chances are you also remember what happened to your life in the 18 months before its 2021 release.

That was when we were told we had to leave work, go back to our homes and stay in them – left to just meekly watch on as the world outside our front doors went spectacularly insane.

And it really was insane. Remember the fake videos coming out of China showing armed blokes menacing around in hazmat suits while regular citizens fell over dead in the streets around them?

Remember, too, the idea that a bunch of poshos who'd been skiing in Italy had brought the deadly Covid virus back with them to Blighty?

Remember, like a lot of people where I live, the first batch of Covid arrivals being isolated inside none other than nursing accommodation on Wirral?

Sure, it was absolutely a deadly virus – to some.

Being over 80 and overweight with a bad diet consisting largely of biscuits, bread, cigarettes, wine, asthma and diabetes meant you likely had no chance.

But even without Covid, you'd have probably stood no chance in any case.

Certificates

Then there were all the death certificates, one of the great pandemic unknowns.

Because to this day, we still don't know for sure how many people died "of" Covid.

We do however have fluctuating figures of those died "with" Covid, instead.

But even they're all incorrect. Anyone found squished flat beneath a steamroller and had to be scraped off the floor with a palette knife could have died "with" Covid on the grounds his nose had been runny the day before.

We also had the washing your hands every time you breathed in or out thing.

We had the lunacy of people stood on their doorsteps banging pans on Thursday nights to "our" NHS, while over on TikTok were reams of videos showing overweight nurses practising dance routines on the wards.

We had the nightly appearances of "Doctor Death" and his oppo "Doctor Doom" on our tellies.

Then there was the tonnes of money printed and then thrown around on not just useless PPE contracts but on an entire anti-virus industry that sprung up virtually overnight – earnestly seeking to cure the planetary problem of their bank account needing filling up with other people's freshly-printed moolah.

We recall with horror the loo roll and dried pasta stampedes that made Black Fridays at Tesco Stretford Extra in Manchester resemble a kids' party game of pass the parcel.

Facemasks

And years later, the heart still sinks when confronted by people still wearing those utterly useless blue facemasks.

Something I really had forgotten were the officious little cts telling us where we could stand in the supermarket.

The floor markers keeping us two metres apart.

The equally distanced queues outside the shop – which would only "allow" a few people inside at any one time.

It was manna from heaven for the world's army of dweebs, suddenly no longer ignored by just about everyone but now IN CHARGE of telling other people how to behave – and thus, by far the nearest any of them will ever get to within touching distance of an orgasm.

One time I got screamed at by a hi-vis twat in a Sainsbury's car park for stepping forward a few inches to speak to my own missus who, like me, was outside in the fresh air.

And I think, if Covid came around again, what would we all do?

Cower in our sheds until Tiny Tim, previously in charge of trolleys, allows us out again?

Or suck it up and take our chances?

Donut held for 14 raids on Dunkin'

A MAN stole £20,000 and caused thousands more in damage during a string of robberies at Dunkin' Donuts joints.

Enajaim E. Bowman, 24 (above), turned himself in after cops identified him as a suspect during a weeks-long probe into raids on premises in New Jersey.

Through December and January, Bowman allegedly broke into 14 Dunkin' Donuts locations at night and stole £550-2,400 at each shop.

At one location in Edison, he walked out empty-handed, but caused £400 worth of damage, according to the Hackensack Police Department.

Bowman stole from every part of the stores that he could, including safes, cash registers, and even managers' offices, police said.

He made off with cash and gift cards and operated on a strict schedule, hitting three to four locations once every week or two.

Detectives were able to link all 14 break-ins, which put pressure on Bowman to surrender.

He is currently being held at Bergen County Jail and faces several charges, including 14 counts of burglary and multiple criminal mischief charges.

'Fk police' call in town hit by crime

A COUNCILLOR has blasted her constituents for demanding more cops in their crime-plagued neighbourhood.

Councilwoman Althea Stevens is a supporter of the Defund the Police movement – but the folk she represents in her corner of New York have other ideas.

At a public safety committee hearing Althea Stevens told NYPD bosses: "People in my community ask for more cops because they don't know of other solutions."

Her area had the fourth-most serious crimes (3,223) last year in New York, with major crime surging 41% since 2019, records show.

Stevens and members of the Council's left-wing Progressive Caucus have pushed for non-police responses to crime, which includes using "violence interrupters" where civilians are trained to de-escalate violence.

Stevens also told NYPD bosses: "I'm not your enemy – I am about how we come together and think about solutions that benefit everyone and not just some."

SAINT Piran's Day is marked each year on March 5 as the "national" day of Cornwall.

Saint Piran – or 'Perran' as he is also known – is famed for his discovery of the precious metal tin.

Saint Piran is the patron saint of tin miners and Saint Piran's Day was originally observed as a "tinner's holiday" by the many tin miners of Cornwall.

Accolade

While other Cornish saints have been feted as "the patron saint of Cornwall", Saint Piran is most commonly associated with this accolade.

And the flag of Saint Piran is now also recognised as the Cornish flag.

By NICKI WILSON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

The flag itself shows a white cross on a black background and is said to depict the saint's discovery of tin as "the white metal" flows from the black Cornish rocks.

However, scholars argue as to the origins of Saint Piran and no definitive history has been agreed on as yet.

Many believe he was a bishop who travelled to Cornwall from Ireland in the early 6th century when he was exiled from the Emerald Isle by those who were envious of his ability to heal.

That's enough history – here's some famous pasty eaters with their busters out...

THE ULTIMATE GIRLFRIEND EXPERIENCE!

Swap Messages, Pictures & Videos with Gorgeous Girls!

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Ashleigh,

I LOVE looking at pictures of stunnas on all fours with their pussy lips nicely spread, so I got my girlfriend to pose this way for some saucy snaps.

But as she pulled her fanny folds apart and thrust a couple of fingers into herself, my dick rose so fast that I had to toss the camera aside and fk her doggy-fashion without delay.

I couldn't believe how aroused I was and I pounded away for what seemed like an age, giving my girlfriend several orgasms until I finally shot my load deep inside her.

It was definitely the best shagging session we've ever had – but now that she knows the effect it has on me, she is always going down on all fours and finger-fking herself.

It works every time and it's not something to complain about, but now I am completely shagged out.

LJ, Hants

Ashleigh says...

THERE are thousands of fellas out there who would gladly swap places with you!

Dear Ashleigh,

I'VE been looking for a new house for a while. I went to my local estate agents and really fancied one of the women who works there.

She's a brunette with lovely tits and she was very flirty when I asked her to find me some suitable properties in my price bracket.

She showed me around a few houses and, when I tried it on, she was well up for it.

She had her tits out in an instant and I nibbled on her nipples before taking off her soaking thong. She sucked me off before I knobbed her doggy-style.

I now make appointments to see houses just so I can shag her. The problem is that she's finally shown me a house I really like, but if I buy it I won't get to see this bird any more because she's married.

PK, Birmingham

Ashleigh says...

BUY it and get a new woman to help decorate it.

Cock of the north gave me a hole night of fun

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a London girl working in Lancashire for a few weeks and I've found out that northern guys know how to give a girl a good shag.

One night after work I joined the lads for a few drinks in the pub next to the office before going with them for a curry.

We ordered up the Cobra and ate a mountain of curry that the lads assured me would "leave my ring stinging" in the morning.

After I downed two pints I felt horny and decided to give the guys a thrill by whipping off my knickers and placing them on my side plate.

The lad opposite me got the idea and slid under the table cloth to lick my dripping pussy.

When he'd come up for air, the second slipped his hand down and fingered me before licking his digits.

They were both up for it and we went back to my flat, where I let the pair of them roger me up the fanny and arse.

And they were right, my ring did sting in the morning – but not 'cos of the curry!

I'm due back in London soon but I'll miss my northern lads.

JK, London

Ashleigh says...

GET some more shagging done before you leave.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week ASHLEIGH GEE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Lesbo romp gave me most powerful orgasm of my life

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a 21-year-old student and my fella's pestering me to have sex with a woman while he watches.

It started a couple of months ago when I was on a night out with my course group and one of the girls came on to me.

At first I was a little taken aback as I have never been with another woman before – although I have sometimes fantasised about it.

But as the night wore on and I got more into it, the thought of it really began to turn me on.

And when she gave me a goodnight kiss, I was thrilled as she slipped her tongue in my mouth.

Licking

It was as if the decision had been made for me and I was quite willing to go along with it.

My whole body tingled as her hands held my bum, pulling my pubic mound to hers.

The sweet taste of her mouth got my juices flowing so much that when she asked if I wanted to go back to her place, I didn't hesitate.

As soon as the door closed behind us she was lifting my top, sucking and licking my nipples as her hands fumbled with my zipper.

We moved into the living room, where she pushed me back on the sofa and pulled down my jeans and panties.

I couldn't believe how wonderful it felt as she slowly spread my thighs and began fingering my pussy lips.

Then she leaned forward and teased my clit with her red-hot tongue.

Within minutes I was experiencing the most powerful orgasm of my life.

I've never been what purveyors of grot flicks would call "a squirter" – and I still don't count myself among their moist ranks – but the wetness of my womanhood was something to behold at that lusty moment.

Then it was the turn of my saphic sex buddy. I felt nervous as she slipped off her clothes right in front of me.

But as she revealed more of her gorgeous body it seemed natural to pleasure her in the same way.

My first taste of pussy was truly amazing. I flicked my hungry tongue across her fleshy petals time and time again, before locating her clitoris and going to work on that with some relish.

We spent the rest of the night licking, sucking and fking each other – and have done several more times since.

She even did me up the wrong 'un with a strap-on, which left me howling in ecstasy.

But I made the mistake of telling my fella and he was angry – not for me cheating on him, but because I didn't let him watch.

Should I?

NL, Notts

Ashleigh says...

WHY not? There's always the sexy fun of a threesome to explore.

Dear Ashleigh,

I'M a 19-year-old girl and I have been confused about my sexuality since I was 18 and still at college.

I fancied boys but I also had feelings towards some of the girls in my class.

As a result, I never had any sexual experiences.

Last month I summoned up the courage to discuss it with some of my girl uni pals who are lesbians and they fixed me up with one of their crowd.

She was two years older than me and we hit it off straight away. I fancied her like crazy and we went back to her flat where we kissed and stripped before I fingered her to orgasm. Then she did the same for me.

A few days later at a party I ended up talking to a great-looking guy who I'd seen in college but never spoken to.

I'd never realised that he fancied me, but when he kissed me I was overwhelmed with desire for him and let him shag me at my flat.

It was an incredible experience to have him thrusting inside me – and yet I still yearned for the tenderness of my new lesbo friend.

Should I surrender to girly love?

SW, Middlesex

Ashleigh says...

YOU may swing both ways, so enjoy both types of loving for now.

I bonked hubby's client to keep orders rolling in

Dear Ashleigh,

MY husband has always been a bit of a computer nerd and studied hard to pursue his interest.

He became so good that he gave up a steady job with an insurance company and set up on his own, writing and selling his own software.

To seal his biggest deal yet, he invited a client round to our house one evening for a meal.

I rose to the occasion by cooking us all a chicken dinner with lashings of gravy.

And I even baked an apple pie, served up with custard, for afters.

We made sure our visitor was well supplied with booze and everything seemed to be going well.

Later in the evening though, I told my fella to show the business bloke a video on his mobile of us having sex that we'd made for a laugh some time last year.

I would go to any length to land some business – and well up for it when he said the bloke had asked if he could hump me too!

And I have to admit I was also secretly aroused when I stripped naked for this total stranger in our home.

I let him give me oral for what seemed like hours until my fanny was dripping.

Then he shafted me hard and fast, making me cry out with passion.

Now my husband has asked me to shag the fella regularly to keep the orders coming.

What do you think?

CV, Herts

Ashleigh says...

IF you're both comfortable with this arrangement, carry on and cash in!

WHERE REAL BABES SNAP THEMSELVES!

THIS is it...the only newspaper feature where REAL BABES show their boobs!

Self-shooting topless pics is a craze that's sweeping the country - but you don't need a swanky new smartphone to enjoy 'em - as we'll be printing the pick of the snaps EVERY week!

SEND US YOUR SELF-SHOTS!
selfshot@sundaysport.co.uk

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

LISA FORWARD

THIS picture request of glamour veteran Lisa Forward is courtesy of hotel worker Alun Carter, from Torquay.

Alun, 56, said he's been a fan of the Sport since day one and always had a soft spot for the 34C scorcher from Fulham.

Alun emailed to ask for a pic of his favourite model, adding: "Lisa has always been my fave but we don't see much of her nowadays."

"She looks like the girl next door – until she gets her kit off!"

"It would really brighten up my day if I opened the Midweek Sport to see a photo of her."

CLAIRE RICHARDS

TRAFFIC warden Phil Norman would happily turn a blind eye if cute Claire Richards parked on double yellow lines.

Phil, 39, told us the 32D babe is his ideal woman and said he'd let her off a parking ticket every time – if he was lucky enough to run into her in their native north London area of Wembley.

He said: "In my line of work I meet gorgeous women all the time, who try to use their looks to get out of parking tickets."

"But I never pay attention, to be honest."

"But if Claire had parked her car illegally, I think I would let her leave it there!"

MICHELLE COLLINS

WE wonder what it was about big-boobed Michelle Collins that caught the eye of Glasgow plumber Niall Campbell.

The glamour legend, from Exeter, boasts an eye-watering pair of 34Fs and Niall, 51, told us he never gets bored of ogling them.

"Michelle has got to be one of the fittest models on the planet. She's way better than all of these reality TV stars," he said.

"It would make my day if you'd put a picture of her in the paper soon, cheers!"

ALL THE LATEST NEWS FROM THE

By JACK FARLEY

ENGLAND are hopeful Tom Willis will be fully fit as they begin preparations for their Six Nations clash with Italy at Allianz Stadium.

Willis failed a head injury assessment during the 16-15 victory over Scotland on February 22 and has been progressing through the graduated return to play protocols.

The Saracens number eight has been included in a 35-man squad named for Sunday's Italy showdown and is on course to complete all the stages in time to take part in the first practice session of the week.

Flankers Ben Earl and Tom Curry have also rejoined the main squad after being placed on modified training programmes for last week's camp in York.

England have recovered from a conclusive loss to Ireland on the opening weekend of the tournament by registering victories over France and Scotland, placing them back in title contention.

They close out the Championship against Italy and Wales, with head coach Steve Borthwick (below) scheduled to name his team to face the Azzurri on Friday.

Hill is eager for more after being handed the chance to kickstart his England career.

The Bath forward came on in the closing moments of his side's nailbiting 16-15 win over Scotland, his first international action since he won a second cap three and a half years ago.

While the 25-year-old had minimal time to leave an impression as England wrestled back the Calcutta Cup for the first time since 2020, he has a springboard to push for more.

His own versatility, coupled with a tournament-ending injury to lock George Martin, means there could be chances in both the second and back row for Hill to pursue.

And, after waiting all the way until the 79th minute to pull the shirt back on, he is happy to be in the conversation.

Silence

"There's always that fear towards the end (about getting on). It's been a long time – 2021 was the last time I played. Luckily Steve (Borthwick) put me on so it was good," he said.

"It has been difficult but I've had conversations with the England guys throughout that period, there's not been silence which is nice.

"It was only a short, short period for myself but to get that win and be back involved was really good. It's where I want to be to keep challenging myself.

"For me, that time has just been about playing well for my club and seeing where it puts me. It's put me in a position to get on at the weekend and hopefully keep progressing from that."

Whether Hill has a realistic chance of cracking the starting XV against Italy next week is another matter, but he is content to work up from his current back-up role.

"Having continuity in the team is not to be mistaken for just letting people off and being complacent," he said.

"There's no guys here who are complacent because in every single position there's people breathing down their neck and dying to get an opportunity.

"Everybody here is fully aware of that. People in my position who are waiting for their chance, it's about keeping plugging away and showing that you're willing, able to learn. That's all you can do."

IRELAND captain Caelan Doris is making "positive strides" in his bid to be fit for Saturday's crunch Six Nations clash

TOMMY FITNESS BATTLE!

Willis hopes to win fight for place in key Six Nations clash with Italy with title rivals France in Dublin. The Leinster no8 missed his country's 27-18 win away to Wales in round three of the tournament because of a knee issue.

The boys in green are also hopeful Jack Conan, who started in place of Doris and scored the opening try in Cardiff before being forced off by a back injury, will be available.

Decisions on hooker Ronan Kelleher (neck) and prop Tadhg Furlong (calf) will be made later in the week, while back Ciaran Frawley is on course to return following a recent concussion.

Ulster prop Tom O'Toole, who missed the opening two rounds of the championship due to suspension, has been added to Simon Easterby's squad, alongside Leinster back-rower Max Deegan and uncapped pair Darragh Murray and Tommy O'Brien.

Back-to-back champions

Ireland top the Six Nations table following successive wins over England, Scotland and Wales.

Interim head coach Easterby is due to name his team to face second-placed France at lunchtime on Thursday.

"Caelan Doris continues to make positive strides and it is hoped that he will be available for selection alongside Jack Conan," read a statement from the Irish Rugby Football Union.

Recalled

"Tadhg Furlong will continue his rehabilitation and a decision on his availability, as well as that of Ronan Kelleher, will be made later in the week."

SCOTLAND head coach Gregor Townsend has called up Matt Currie, Ben Muncaster and Nathan McBeth for Saturday's Six Nations clash with Wales but Luke Crosbie and Jack Mann have been ruled out by injury.

Currie has been recalled after scoring a hat-trick for Edinburgh against Munster on Friday night having recovered from concussion.

He will be joined by club-mate Muncaster, who also started the win in Cork, and Glasgow prop McBeth. Crosbie was replaced early on in the Edinburgh game and is back at his club to undergo further assessment, while Mann suffered a head injury on Friday night and is undergoing World Rugby's concussion protocols.

Edinburgh's Ali Price and Ross McCann have also returned to their club.

Ben Thomas says that WALES' focus for people to "fall back in love with Welsh rugby" will continue when they resume their Guinness Six Nations campaign against Scotland.

It is less than three weeks since

Matt Sherratt took the coaching reins on an interim basis after Warren Gatland's departure following 14 successive Test match defeats.

Sherratt's startling impact saw him turn Wales around from a team humbled by Italy to one that gave Six Nations title favourites Ireland easily their biggest challenge of this season's tournament.

Although Wales lost 27-18, the performance and what centre Thomas calls the "licence to play" Sherratt has issued highlighted a transformation that augers well for Six Nations appointments with Scotland and England.

"We wanted to bring some positivity back," Thomas said.

"Ultimately, there is a lot that is out of your control in terms of getting results, so we had a big focus on playing a game of rugby and a brand of rugby that would get people excited, to almost fall back in love with Welsh rugby.

"And I suppose it doesn't change next week. The process has to be the same. We will put our best game out on the field and hopefully the result goes our way.

"I wasn't surprised with how he took to it because he has got a brilliant rugby brain. That is clear by the way he coaches Cardiff.

Unchanged

"The challenge would have been trying to get things across in such a small period of time, but the way he delivers messages is pretty clear and the boys were able to pick things up quite well."

Wales will arrive at Murrayfield next Saturday with an impressive recent record, having won six of the last eight Six Nations games against Scotland in Edinburgh.

Sherratt looks likely to name an unchanged starting line-up, with his match-day 23 potentially being reinforced by a return for fit-again Ospreys hooker Dewi Lake, who captained Wales in Australia last summer and throughout the 2024 Autumn Nations Series.

Thomas added: "The mood has been positive. It is an exciting way to play rugby to just try and throw as many punches as possible.

"We probably came off the pitch after the first two matches (against France and Italy) feeling we hadn't fired any shots at the opposition.

"The Rome game was in pretty poor conditions and it wasn't maybe the game for that.

"But to come off against Ireland, knowing that we had been in the game for the most part – and were able to put our game on the pitch, as opposed to just absorbing what was being thrown at us – was pretty pleasing for us."

Rajeko can be Spring Cup star

RAJEKO will be happy dropping to Listed level in the BetMGM Spring Cup Stakes at Lingfield.

Trained by Michael Bell, Rajeko travelled to Qatar to contest the Al Rayyan Mile last month and it proved a fruitful trip as he picked up £70,000 finishing second to Al Qudra, beaten two and a half lengths by the all-the-way winner.

Al Qudra is rated 10lb superior to Rajeko, so that was a fine performance off level weights after a winning warm-up run at Chelmsford in December, on what was his first start since running down the field in the Acomb at York.

Given he also finished fourth behind Group One scorer Whistlejacket in last season's July Stakes, Rajeko obviously possesses plenty of ability and has a fitness edge on his main ratings rival Bountiful, who gets a handy 5lb but has not run since July.

Almoh'sher has looked a smart purchase so far and can confirm that impression again in the Try Unibet's New Improved Acca Boosts Handicap at Kempton.

Unraced for Roger Varian, Almoh'sher changed hands for 28,000 guineas last July but did not hit the track until the end of December, when he made an instant splash with a game victory over a mile at Southwell.

Upped to 11 furlongs for his second start, Almoh'sher took a keen hold and raced prominently before having to settle for second best, beaten just a head by a rival who was getting 12lb.

Competitive

Edged up again to a full mile and a half here, the son of Sea The Stars looks usefully rated on a mark of 88.

Nogo's Dream is consistency personified having not finished out of the first four in his last 12 starts.

There are no such concerns in North Yorkshire, as he ran well over course and distance on New Year's Day and while he is now on a career-high mark of 100, Edgewell could still be on the upgrade.

Star mare a boost for Champion

FESTIVAL FOCUS

BRIGHTERDAYS AHEAD is firmly on course for the Unibet Champion Hurdle at next week's Cheltenham Festival after delighting trainer Gordon Elliott in a post racing workout at Leopardstown.

The Cullentra House handler confirmed on Monday morning that his star mare would go up against the boys in the opening day feature at Prestbury Park, rather than take the perceived easier option of the Mares' Hurdle on the same card.

Brighterdaysahead was one of several Elliott-trained runners bound for Cheltenham to stretch their legs after the final National Hunt meeting of the season at Leopardstown and looked the part as she passed the post in front of several stablemates under the returning Jack Kennedy. "Brighterdaysahead, very happy. She looked brilliant and galloped very well," Elliott said afterwards.

"It's good for the public that she's going for the Champion Hurdle and we're very happy."

Strut

"We're going there with a live chance, I think it's good for racing and it will be one of the races of the week, so we're looking forward to it."

Others to strut their stuff at the Foxrock circuit included Supreme Novices' Hurdle contender Romeo Coolio, the defending Stayers' Hurdle champion Teahupoo and Found A Fifty, who looks set to throw his hat in the Queen Mother Champion Chase ring.

Elliott added: "Romeo Coolio I was happy with, I thought Firefox worked well and Kala Conti and Ndaawi both worked really well."

"I was very happy with Wodhooh and The Yellow Clay and Found A Fifty actually worked well and will probably run in the Champion Chase."

"At a massive price, he could have an each-way chance."

"Teahupoo I was very happy with and The Wallpark worked very well. Ballybow galloped and Galvin and Better Days Ahead I was very happy with."

"All the bumper horses galloped well, too."

"The two horses jumped over fences, Dee Capo and Stellar Story, and both of them jumped well."

JIMMY LOOKS FOR 100 SPOT

JAMES Anderson has registered for this season's Hundred draft, signalling his intent to continue his unexpected lap of honour in domestic cricket.

The 42-year-old ended his record-breaking international career with England with an emotional farewell at Lord's last summer but has decided he still has more to offer and will turn out for Lancashire in the Rothesay County Championship this season.

He also put his name forward for the most recent Indian Premier League auction, despite playing his last competitive T20 match more than a decade ago. He was not ultimately picked up but has now opted to put his name in the hat for the Hundred, a format the fast bowler has only ever previously been involved with as a pundit.

By the time season five of the competition kicks off he will be 43 and the eight teams must decide whether to invest in a player with huge name recognition and a glittering CV, or recruit younger talent with greater short-form experience.

The draft takes place next Wednesday, with a total of 37 places to be filled in the men's side and 29 in the women's squads.

Anderson hinted at his interest shortly after swapping his England whites for a consulting role on the coaching staff, telling Midweek Sport: "Watching The Hundred this year, seeing the ball swing around, it makes me feel like I could do a job there."

"There's definitely a bit of intrigue with the shorter formats because I've not played any franchise stuff before."

When the competition first launched, Anderson was notionally affiliated in a non-playing capacity to Manchester Originals – whose home ground of Old Trafford boasts the James Anderson End – but that link was never formalised.

The Originals have five spots open in the squad – ranging from the top £200,000 pay bracket to a spot at £63,000 – space for a senior pace bowler in their ranks.

A host of capped England players are up for grabs, including the likes of Jason Roy (below), Dawid Malan, Rehan Ahmed, Zak Crawley and Dan Lawrence, while there could be interest in rising stars like Lancashire's Rocky Flintoff, Archie Vaughan and Ben McKinney.

For those registered in the draft but unsuccessful this time, there is another chance to be picked up as a wildcard signing later in the season.

TOUGH TIE: Iraola

Cherries gutted to cop City cup draw

By PAUL THOMAS

BOURNEMOUTH boss Andoni Iraola admitted his side could hardly have had a tougher FA Cup quarter-final draw but is ready to fight to try and upset Manchester City for the second time this season.

The Cherries moved into the last eight for just the third time in their history with a penalty shootout win over Wolves at the weekend and were rewarded with a home clash against Pep Guardiola's side.

Iraola accepts that was a slice of misfortune for his side but, while they will surely start the tie as underdogs, he can look back with pride on a 2-1 victory last time City visited the Vitality Stadium in November.

"I think we've not been very lucky to be honest," the Spaniard said.

"Probably there was only one worse (draw), that was City away. At least we play them at home. It's a big challenge for us but a big opportunity to give our best and see if it's enough to be in the semi-finals."

"We have had a nice result against them but now will be more difficult, City probably (see) the title they can now win."

"When they smell a title, normally they are pretty good so we need to be pretty good also."

The prospect of making club history by reaching the final four, and booking a trip to the national stadium, awaits on March 29 but Iraola says they cannot afford to take their eye off the Premier League in the short term.

"Bournemouth has never arrived in the semi-final, it's a challenge we have and a big opportunity to play in Wembley. That's a personal goal for me, for the team, for the club," he said.

"But we need to separate the competitions. The game is still three or four weeks from now."

"We have to focus on the Premier League games we have now and talk about the league exclusively."

"We have Spurs away and Brentford at home before the international break. We focus straight away on the league and talk about City when the break comes."

ARCHER FIRES

Brendon wants Jofra back for summer Tests

BRENDON McCullum is optimistic he will be able to unleash Jofra Archer on Test cricket this summer.

That's while at the same time "understanding the risks involved" for England's injury-plagued fast bowler.

It is just over four years since Archer last featured in the longest format, with a chronic elbow and back injuries the reasons for his career being stop-start since bursting on to the scene in 2019.

His latest comeback has been carefully managed and restricted to T20s initially and then ODIs, with a broader view for him to face India at home and Australia away in marquee Test series in the next year.

An Indian Premier League stint beckons after England's early exit at the Champions Trophy but McCullum is hopeful Archer will be back in whites and ready for a five-match marquee series against India.

"We know how great Jofra is at the very top of his game and to have him back, fit and excited about playing is a real win for English cricket," England head coach McCullum said.

"We've got to make sure we're always doing the right thing by Jof and understanding the risks involved but I'm pretty sure he's pretty keen to play Test cricket."

"If you can add him to the battery of fast bowlers you're trying to build then it only strengthens the squad Ended.

"I'll sit down with some of the players after this and work out what their ambitions are. I would imagine Jof would be keen to play Test cricket this summer."

Archer took two for 55 in England's seven-wicket thrashing by South Africa in Karachi on Saturday as Jos Buttler's white-ball captaincy ended in sorry fashion with a seventh consecutive ODI defeat.

All of his six wickets – Adil Rashid and Liam Livingstone were the next best on the list for England with three – arrived in the first 10-over powerplay to demonstrate his potency with the new ball.

He was not as effective in his second and third spells but coming through the winter unscathed and playing in nine of 11 matches, missing the other two with a cut on his hand, is a massive plus.

"Jofra's been out of competitive cricket for a couple of years, it's taken a little bit of time to get that rhythm of game play back but I think he's been really good," McCullum added.

"He's bowled high-pace, he's played a lot of cricket, he's been able to get a significant workload under his belt throughout this tournament. We've seen moments of how great Jofra is for the team."

"Overall, I'm really pleased to see where Jof's at and it's great to see him back playing and injury-free at the moment."

Meanwhile, Somerset all-rounder Ben Green has rejoined Leicestershire on loan.

Green, 27, enjoyed a short-term deal with the Foxes last year and will return to Grace Road for seven rounds of the Rothesay County Championship this summer.

He will be available from the start of the season and remain at the club until the Vitality 20-overs Blast campaign begins at the end of May.

Leicestershire director of cricket Claude Henderson said: "Ben brings great experience and further quality to our changing room."

"He fitted in seamlessly with the squad last year and became a popular member of the group instantly which is always a bonus."

"We're excited to have him back with us for the start of the summer."

Toon can't let season just crash and Burn

DAN: CUT OUT MISTAKES

NO DROP OFF: Dan Burn

DAN Burn is convinced Newcastle can still achieve their dreams this season if they can beat the inconsistency which has plagued them in recent weeks.

The Magpies slipped out of the FA Cup on Sunday when they went down 2-1 at home to Premier League rivals Brighton in extra-time despite taking the lead and having two goals disallowed for offside.

They have lost three of their last five games at St James' Park and five of their last nine home and away to surrender the momentum they had built with a run of nine successive victories in all competitions around the turn of the year.

But asked what the season could yet hold for the Carabao Cup finalists, defender Burn said: "As inconsistent as we've been this season, we're still in a good position for what we want to achieve."

Click

"We're in the European places and although the league is so tight, we just need to put another run together like the one we had over Christmas to cement that position in the league. Then we've obviously got the final just around the corner too, which is a massive opportunity."

"As inconsistent as we have been, we know that if we can just get that together and click, we can be a really good team."

The disappointment of Newcastle's FA Cup exit was compounded by the loss of forward Anthony Gordon to a needless red card which will cost him his participation in the League Cup final with Liverpool on March 16 two years after keeper Nick Pope sat out the showpiece of the same competition following his dismissal against the Reds.

Burn said: "He's going to be disappointed, isn't he? I really don't think there was any sort of intent there, he's not that type of player. It's just a real shame for him."

The Magpies will head for Wembley desperate to end a near 70-year wait for a major domestic trophy and acutely aware that Sunday's defeat represents another wasted opportunity to do just that.

But Newcastle fan Burn believes the club is on the right path under headcoach Eddie Howe and the new owners to bring an end to that drought.

The 32-year-old said: "I think the fact we're seeing it as a big missed opportunity just shows where the club is at, at the moment. The gaffer has brought that in."

"I can't comment too much on what went on before the gaffer came in, but I definitely feel as though there's a real emphasis on the cups now and a real belief that we can get to the latter stages of whatever competition we're in."

"We want to get to the finals and when you get to within a game of the quarter-finals and then go out in extra-time, it definitely feels like you've missed a chance to potentially do something special."

NUNO PROUD OF HIS PLAYERS

NUNO Espirito Santo could not hide his delight after Nottingham Forest earned a penalty shoot-out victory over Ipswich following a 1-1 draw to progress into the quarter-finals of the FA Cup.

George Hirst struck nine minutes after the break to put the visitors in front but Ryan Yates' fourth goal of the season brought Forest level and extra time passed by, which forced penalties.

All nine penalties had been scored when Jack Taylor walked to the spot inside a cauldron of City Ground boos and goalkeeper Matz Sels proved to be the hero for a second successive round in the shoot-out to send Forest through.

Nuno was relieved to see his side take a step closer to a Wembley date and insists he could not bear to watch his team's penalties.

He said: "I'm really happy. We had so many hopes on the FA Cup to go as far as we can and in penalties the emotion is always big, so really happy."

"It was huge for us. The players did their jobs well, they were good penalties and Matz - amazing for us."

"It's a good moment, it's important for the club to give it a real go. Now we have to focus on the Premier League but the FA Cup is always going to be on our mind."

"It's not nice at all, anxiety, nervous, mix of emotions. I try not to watch and just wait for the noise."

It was the second straight FA Cup game in which Forest have come out on top in a penalty shoot-out after Sels produced saves in the last round against League One side Exeter.

Nuno added: "Every FA Cup draw we have to practice penalties, we kept the same order as Exeter. We did really well, they were good penalties."

"I believe it makes part of the game preparations, the same time as the goalkeeper to practice and to get as much info as possible. It's dedication."

Ipswich's exit from the competition means they now switch their full focus to trying to stay in the Premier League.

Boss Kieran McKenna said: "We are disappointed to lose the game but that can happen in the penalty shoot-out. Really tough way to lose a match."

"Really proud of the efforts of the players."

IT'S BEEN ANOTHER BAD WEEK AT COLD TRAFFORD

FRUSTRATED:
United skipper
Bruno Fernandes

BRUNO: WE CAN STILL WIN EUROPA

BRUNO Fernandes says silverware is misfiring. Man United's focus as attention turns to the Europa League following the FA Cup holders' exit to Fulham.

Last May's Wembley win against Manchester City ended a poor season on a high for Erik ten Hag, whose successor Ruben Amorim oversaw a disappointing fifth-round exit at Old Trafford.

United skipper Fernandes took the game to extra time by brilliantly cancelling out Calvin Bassey's header, with it ending 1-1 after 120 minutes before Fulham won 4-3 on spot-kicks courtesy of two Bernd Leno saves.

Victor Lindelof and Joshua Zirkzee were both denied in a shoot-out loss that leaves the Europa League as the only route to silverware and realistically continental qualification, for the side 14th in the Premier League.

"Of course I helped the team to draw the game and to try to get back into the game to win it but unfortunately it was not enough," United captain

By ANDY MILLOM

Fernandes said. "But we look forward now to the rest of the season, with the main focus now on the next game in a competition where we want to go forward. It's one of our goals for this season to try and get a trophy."

Real Sociedad are the opponents as United restart their bid for Europa League glory, with Thursday's round of 16 first leg in Spain taking on increased significance after their FA Cup exit.

"We know that we had many injuries in this period and we don't have as many players (as we would like)," Fernandes said.

"We've been playing almost always with the same players for long spells and it's been difficult, so we just now need to recover and focus ourselves to do the best we can, to get fresh legs to the next game."

"It's going to be a tough one. A Spanish team that plays brilliant football."

"Very, very good players up front, good quality coming out from the back, so we need to be fresh to run again, because they will make us run and then when we have the ball we have to make them run too." As United look to reset and refocus on European matters, Fulham have two league games before an exciting FA Cup quarter-final date at home to Crystal Palace following the international break.

It is 50 years since the club's only appearance in the final and penalty hero Leno was delighted by the famous Old Trafford triumph.

"It feels amazing – the way we played, also with the penalty shoot-out," the Fulham goalkeeper said. "I think the fans were amazing. Brilliant day for all of us."

Carrot

"Sometimes penalties is a bit of casino and today we won the roulette."

Standout midfielder Sander Berge said of the draw at home to Palace: "We look forward to that game."

"Big tie and getting to Wembley is a huge carrot. We can't wait for that challenge."

"We have a little work to be done there after last game against them and we really look forward to that."

"And Wembley, we talked about it before the game today and now we're one step closer. Now all focus on the league and then we look forward to it."

LENNON: GERS A CHASM BEHIND

NEIL Lennon claims the "chasm" that separates Celtic and Rangers can only be plugged by a change of the mentality of the Ibrox dressing room.

Celtic have won 20 of the past 25 domestic trophies while Rangers have claimed three, and the Hoops went 16 points clear in the Premiership on Saturday following Motherwell's 2-1 win at Ibrox.

Lennon said: "It's a chasm. I thought with Barry going in there, when he made the change against Kilmarnock, it was a positive one. It was brave, and they got the result and the performance.

"You're thinking, well, maybe there's a bit of momentum there, but they go the other way. So there's a huge fragility there in the squad.

"And whoever takes over, whether it be Barry or somebody else, everyone talks about a rebuild. For me, it's a change of culture and psychology, really, more than anything else."

FERGIE FIGHTS BACK

Sir Alex: Don't blame me for United woes

SIR ALEX FERGUSON has branded Gary Lineker's claim he started Man United's decline as an 'insult'.

The Match Of The Day presenter reckons the rot at Old Trafford set in the final years of Fergie's glittering reign.

Lineker believes Sir Alex left an ageing squad with few players coming through from the club's famed academy. The former England striker said: "If you look at Liverpool now, they've got a new manager in Arne Slot, and it's testament to how Jurgen Klopp left the club in a really good state.

By JOHN ANTHONY

"So the structure is really good. That probably wasn't the case at the end of Sir Alex Ferguson's time.

"I know they won the league that season.

"But it wasn't their best side, and a lot of their great players were coming to the end of their careers. I think from there they had problems.

"The academy wasn't delivering the players that they were before."

Ageing

Fergie hit back at those comments and points to other reasons why the United run of success ground to a halt when David Moyes succeeded him in the hotseat.

The 83-year-old said: "It is an insult to say that I left an ageing squad.

Chelsea have seven players over 30 but nobody talks about them being an old team. It is easy to defend myself against all of that because all the statistics are there.

"My advice to David was that he should maybe keep Mike Phelan.

"He was a United man – loyal, hard-working and a good judge of the players.

"I was always supportive of David – whenever he called I gave him the advice I'd have wanted when I was manager."
